INTRODUCTION

It is with pleasure that the Alaska State Professional Teaching Practices Commission (PTPC) submits to you its report for Fiscal Year 1996.

This report cites the activities and services of the PTPC as authorized by Alaska Statutes, Title 14, Chapter 20, Article 5, entitled "The Professional Teaching Practices Act."

In general, the Commission deals with matters of ethical and professional standards of educators and their compliance with applicable state laws and contractual obligations.

The PTPC is funded by program receipts from teacher certification fees, and is composed of nine educators from around the state appointed by the Governor.

This report contains a synopsis of activities of the Commission from July 1, 1995 through June 30, 1996. It was prepared on behalf of the Commission by the Executive Director, Sanna Green.

THE ALASKA STATE PROFESSIONAL TEACHING PRACTICES COMMISSION

PURPOSE The goals of the Commission are to establish and enforce standards of ethical and professional performance of educators who hold Alaska certification and to review the Department of Education's certification regulations and procedures.

ORGANIZATION Nine members appointed by the Governor:

- 5 - Classroom teachers
- 1 - Superintendent
- 1 - Principal
- 1 - Higher Education representative
- 1 - Department of Education representative

SCOPE OF ACTIVITIES Complaints may be filed with the Commission by persons believing that a certificated educator has violated the Code of Ethics of the teaching profession; is in substantial noncompliance with the school laws of the state or the regulations of the department; has committed an act that would be a crime of moral turpitude; breached a legal contract, or has been judged incompetent. These complaints are investigated and processed in accordance with 20 AAC 10.200-10.230.

The Commission publishes the Code of Ethics and provides information to all educators in the state concerning the ethics of the profession. The PTPC provides assistance to agencies, organizations, individual educators, and members of the lay public. The PTPC's executive director also responds to inquiries regarding educator employment, certification, contractual obligations and general information requests.

The Commission reviews certification standards and proposals and makes recommendations to the State Board of Education. Recommendations are also made to school districts, professional organizations, and institutions of higher learning.

Since 1966, the PTPC has helped to resolve concerns regarding the conduct of educators and has provided an alternative to time-consuming and expensive court cases.
